

Child Protection Contact Information

All sport is brilliant, but for a few children it is spoilt by people who do or say things that hurt or frighten them.

These children may feel they have no one to talk to; no one will listen or believe what they say.

British Triathlon wants to stop these things, which may be abuse, from happening and help those affected. This is called 'Safeguarding Children.

Triathlon is about having fun and being the best you can – we want you to be safe from harm when you're involved in our activities.

If you ever feel uncomfortable and want to talk to someone there are people who can help and here is their contact information.
